PRETTYLITTLETHING

Topshop sadly went into administration following the covid pandemic and dying death of the high street.

Leading online fashion retailer, ASOS, then bought the brand - with plans to redirect the Topshop site into the ASOS domain.

However, despite the Topshop website being down - people STILL searched for it.

It was clear that customers and online users weren't fully aware of the closure - with many still in hope to be able to buy something onsite.

Whilst the website was down, Pretty Little Thing used the keywords to capitalize on that search traffic and drive them to their site instead.
